Nnn Numb. 1585.

The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, March 13. 1707.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Mar. 11.

Lemberg, Feb. 10.

THE 7th of this Month the great Council ſummon'd to meet here was open'd: All the Senators went to the Church of the Dominicans, to implore the Bleſſing of Heaven on their Reſolutions, and afterwards went to the Refectory of the ſaid Dominicans; that is to ſay, the Primate of the Kingdom, the Biſhop of Cujavia, the Palatines of Lublin, Lemberg, Caminiek, Bietz, and Chelm; the Vice-Chancellor of the Crown, the great Sword-bearer, and the Referendary; the Marſhal of the Court of Lithuania, the Sub-General, and ſeveral others. Count Denhof the Sword-bearer of the Crown, ſpoke firſt: He made a long Diſcourſe upon the Calamities of the Kingdom, and remonſtrated that it was abſolutely neceſſary to continue the Council here, in order to agree upon Means for re-eſtabliſhing the Peace and Security of the Republick, and preſerving its Liberties; to which he deſir'd the Senators to apply themſelves with all Sincerity and Diligence. After him the Treaſurer of Lithuania ſpoke, and propos'd the adjourning of the Aſſembly to to Morrow the 11th, to give time to the Biſhops of Vilna, Smolensko, and ſome other Senators to come and aſſiſt in it; which Motion was approv'd. Prince Dolhorucki arriv'd here ſome Days ago, on the Part of the Czar. The 8th Prince Wieſnowiski arriv'd here, as alſo the Palatines of Cracow, Podolia, Brzeze, Cujavia, and ſome others to aſſiſt in the Council.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated March 18.

The laſt Letters from Poland, dated the 1ſt Inſtant, contain the following Relation of what paſs'd at Lemberg from the 11th of laſt Month to the 17th Incluſive.

The Aſſembly being grown numerous the 11th, by the Arrival of Prince Wieſnowiski, the Palatines of Cracow and Podolia, the Caſtellan of Witepsk, and ſeveral other Lords of Poland and Lithuania, the Sword bearer of the Crown began by a Speech in which he firſt thank'd them for appearing there on ſuch an Occaſion, and then told them he was of Opinion the Motion formerly made by the Primate of the Kingdom, for confirming the general Confederacy of Sendomir, ought to be approv'd, and thereupon deſir'd that Deputies might be nam'd to draw up the Form of an Act confirming the ſaid Confederacy. Then the Marſhal of Lithuania made a long Diſcourſe upon the preſent State of Affairs, on the extreme Obſtinacy of the adverſe Party, and the fatal Conſequences of the Treaty of Warſaw; after which he return'd Thanks to the Primate for the Care and Pains he had taken to draw together the diſpers'd, in order to the rebuilding the Altar of Concord; and as to what had been ſaid about the Confederacy of Sendomir, he added, that ſeeing they had yet receiv'd no Account of the Abdication of King Auguſtus, otherwiſe than by publick Rumour, he judg'd it proper that the Vice-Chancellor, being a Miniſter that was acquainted with the ſecret Affairs of his Majeſty, ſhould be deſir'd to inform the Aſſembly what he knew of that Matter, and of the Motives that induc'd his Majeſty to retire into Saxony.

Then the Vice-Chancellor ſtanding up, Would to God, ſaid he, ſorrowfully, that by the Revolution which has happen'd, we had not been conſtrain'd, the Marſhal to aſk, and I to anſwer a Queſtion once ſo little expected: And purſuing his Diſcourſe, he ſaid, that thoſe who had the moſt Concern for the King's Intereſt, had on all Occaſions founded his Intentions, touching the Meaſures he would take in Caſe the King of Sweden ſhould invade Saxony: To which he anſwer'd, that the Allies had Aſſurances that the King of Sweden would not make an Irruption that would excite againſt him the the States of the Empire and even Saxony it ſelf: That however, the Caſe ſuppos'd actually happening by the Entrance of the Swedes into Saxony, King Auguſtus took vigorous and bold Reſolutions to ſuccour his Dominions; and notified to forreign Courts the Neceſſity he was under to enter into the Heart of the Empire with all his Army, and auxiliary Troops of Poles, Muſcovites, and Coſſacks; and was heard to ſay, that tho' his Country ſhould be laid in Aſhes, he would rather chuſe to dye in loyal Poland, than live in Eaſe and Quiet amidſt the Delights of Saxony: That in Fact, it was known in what Manner he joyn'd his Forces with the Muſcovites, and how he gave Battle, and won the Victory at Kaliſh: That as for what had paſs'd ſince that Time, he would confine himſelf to excuſe, not the Action, but the Intention of the King, who had been conſtrain'd to do what he had done, out of meer Neceſſity, and wholly againſt his Will. He concluded with approving the Motion for confirming the Confederacy of Sendomir.

The Palatin of Podolia coming to ſpeak in his Turn, demanded whether they had a King, or not? If they had, they might aſſemble; if not, the Nation ought to be call'd together with the accuſtom'd Formalities: He concluded, that the King deſign'd to return, ſince he had ſent no Advice to the contrary. But the Marſhal of Lithuania anſwer'd him, that it would require a great Deal of Time for the Nation to meet ſo ſolemnly as he had propos'd, and that it being uncertain what might happen in the mean Time, it would be beſt for them to act with Unanimity, and agree to the Expedient propos'd. The Primate having applauded the Zeal of the Palatine of Podolia, nominated with general Conſent Deputies to draw up the Form of the foreſaid Act; and to give them Time for it the Seſſion was adjourn'd to the 14th.

That Day the Draught was read of the ſaid Act for confirming the Confederacy of Sandomir. The 15th there were ſome Debates about it; but at length all was terminated to general Satisfaction, and the Seſſion adjourn'd to the 17th.

Hague, Mar. 18. M. Schindler, Councellor of War to King Auguſtus, who is come hither to negociate the Treaty for the Saxon Troops, having had a Conference with the Deputies of the States on Tueſday laſt, that Affair is ſo much advanc'd, that in all likelihood it cannot fail of being brought ſpeedily to a good Iſſue. But whereas 10 or 12000 Saxons were offer'd to the Allies, and there is Cauſe to doubt they are not compleat, 'tis talk'd that not above 8000 will be taken into Service, that the Number agreed for may certainly be furniſh'd intire. 'Tis generally believ'd the Loan deſir'd by the Saxons will be granted. As for the Affair of Munſter, 'tis adviſ'd from Rome, that the Pope's Shuffling and Delays to decide it, proceed from a Deſign he has to annull both the Elections, under a frivolous Pretext that both the Candidates were guilty of Simony. 'Tis ſaid the Biſhop of Oſnabrug's Party have inſinuated to the Court of Rome, that by this annulling of both Elections the Peace of the Biſhoprick of Munſter would be preſerv'd: But Meaſures are taken that are like to produce a contrary Effect; at leaſt Troops will enter and take Poſſeſſion of that Biſhoprick, purſuant to a Reſolution

paſs'd the End of laſt Week: And 'tis on that Account that M. Duckar, Miniſter of Paderborn, ſet out from hence on Saturday laſt; as did Yeſterday M. Itterſum, who while the Election to the ſaid Biſhoprick was in Agitation, reſided at Munſter on the Part of the States. 'Tis not known whether Poſſeſſion will be taken of that Biſhoprick, in the Name of the Biſhop of Paderborn, or of the Circle of Weſtphalia. But in ſhort the Election of that Biſhop will be vigorouſly maintain'd in Spite of the Court of Rome. Here is Advice that the King of France has ſent a Project of Peace to the Pope, to be tranſmitted by his Holyneſs to the Court of Vienna, to the End that Court may communicate it to the Allies: But 'tis thought the ſending it ſo far about will be no Recommendation of it to the latter. Letters from Stockholm ſay the Regency of Sweden have ſignified to the Daniſh Miniſter there, that they will not ſuffer the Daniſh Ships to traffick in ſuch Ports of the Baltick as formerly belong'd to the Swedes and are now in the Hands of the Muſcovites; and that if any Ships are taken bound to or from the ſaid Ports, they ſhall be adjug'd lawful Prize. Yeſterday the States reſolv'd, that a certain Number of their Horſe that are to ſerve in the Field this Campaign, ſhall be arm'd with Cuiraſſes.

Falmouth, Mar. 8. To Day arriv'd the Expedition Pacquet Boat in 7 Days from Lisbon: She brings an Account, that on the 27th paſt came into the Tagus Her Majeſty's Ships the Swiftſure and Warſpight, with a Maſt Ship; which Men of War ſail'd from England about the middle of laſt Month with ſeveral Victuallers, Store-Ships and others under their Convoy; and in the Latitude of 43 unhappily fell in with a Squadron of 16 French Ships of War, who took 14 of the ſaid Victuallers and Store-Ships. The Maſt Ship was an Hour in the Cuſtody of the Enemy, but the Maſter having thrown his Engliſh Colours and Papers overboard in Time, and wearing Daniſh Colours, was diſmiſs'd.

* The Merchants of London have Advice, that 14 other Ships which ſail'd from England under the 2 Men of War abovemention'd, are arriv'd at Lisbon: And 'tis reaſonably conjectur'd, that of thoſe 14 ſaid above to be taken, ſome might only be put to the Run and may have eſcap'd.

Cowes, Mar. 9. This Day was brought in by the Concord and Neptune Privateers of Middelburg, one of 28 the other of 40 Guns, the Bourbon Man of War of 54 Guns and 313 Men, taken off Scilly the 15th of March N. S. after 3 Hours Engagement. Of the French 60 were kill'd and a great many wounded; the Dutch loſt 4 Men and had 16 wounded. The Bourbon came from Breſt 15 Days before in Company with 16 Men of War, of from 90 to 54 Guns, bound for Cadix and thence to the Weſt-Indies.

The True Golden Snuff, one of the Nobleſt Secrets yet found out for ſpeedily and actually removing moſt Diſtempers of the Brain, Eyes or Ears, the more particular Virtues whereof, and the way of uſing it are fully deſcrib'd in the Paper of Directions, ſeal'd up with the Author's Seal, being an Elephant, and the figure of an Elephant ſtampt on the back of each Paper, with a Latin Inſcription about it. The ſaid Snuff is only to be had at Maſon's Coffee-houſe in Bartholomew-lane behind the Royal Exchange, and from the Author at the Green Balcony in Durham-yard in the Strand, London, with good Allowance to thoſe who wou'd ſell it again, and a large Paper Gratis, fit for a Frame, to hang up in their Houſes or Shops. And at Maſon's Coffee-houſe aforeſaid is likewiſe to be had the true Balſam of Cathay, ſo eminently known theſe many Years for its incomparable Virtues in giving immediate Eaſe in the Gout and Rheumatiſm, beyond any other Remedy yet publiſh'd, at 2 s. 6 d. a Box with Directions.

True Spectacles and Reading-Glaſſes, by the uſe of which young Perſons may preſerve their Sight to the greateſt Age, and which from the Property of the Glaſs and Truth of the Work preſerve and ſo aſſiſt the weakeſt Eyes, without ſtraining the Sight, as to make the Perſon capable of doing the fineſt of Work, and reading the ſmalleſt of Print, they being ground on true Braſs Tools according to the approv'd Method of the Royal Society; but the common falſe Green Spectacles ſtrain, draw and ſpoil the Sight. Teleſcopes improv'd to ſo great a Perfection, and ſo curiouſly adapted, that a ſmall one for the Pocket will diſcover things at the remoteſt Diſtance, and make them appear as near and perfect as the large common ones that are 4 Foot long: Alſo one to be us'd at Sea, that takes in more, and repreſents the Object larger, diſtincter, and clearer, then the Canes and Sticks made uſe of for that purpoſe. Microſcopes of all ſorts, ſome of which Magnify the Object above a Million of times, and ſhow the Circulation of the Blood in Fiſh, Animals in Liquids, and the Form and Curious Texture of the Minuteſt Bodies, more perfect then any yet made. Perſpective Glaſſes and other Curioſities at reaſonable Rates, by G. Willdey and T. Brandreth at the Archimedes and Globe in Ludgate-ſtreet, the corner next St. Paul's.

The Royal Lotion, for Curling the Hair of the Head; which by its Strengthning, Corroborating Quality, us'd only once now and then, will cauſe the Hair to Curl, be it never ſo Lank and Weak, to a Wonder; it being much preferable to Curling-Irons ſo commonly us'd, which not only makes the Ends Red or Yellow, but ſo debiliates and makes it ſo Rotten as to ſnap at the leaſt touch: But this is ſo ſenſibly agreeable to the Nature of the Hair, as not to diſcover it in the leaſt, but may be us'd by Perſons on themſelves, it is of ſo Coroborating and Strengthning Nature, as quite to alter its Feeble Diſpoſition, and yet is very Innocent, and may be very Serviceable to Gentlemen wearing their own Hair, as alſo for Ladies and Children, which by its uſe will be rendred the Wonder of Beholders; its of a Fragrant Smell. Is only to be had at Mr. Harriſon's at the White Hart in the Poultry, and at Mrs. Cole's at the Dial and 2 Crowns, againſt St. Dunſtan's Church, Fleetſtreet, at 1 s. 6 d. each, with Printed Directions.
